The Unremarkable Death of Marilyn Monroe

PRESS RELEASE

Dyad Productions

Written and directed by Elton Townend Jones

Performed by Lizzie Wort

From Dyad Productions, the company that brought you Female Gothic, I, Elizabeth, The Diaries of Adam and Eve and Austen's Women.

August 2nd, 1962...

Monroe as we've never seen her before: alone in her bedroom in a dressing gown and underwear; no glitz, no glamour, no masks. Overdosed on pills, the woman behind the icon unravels her remarkable life and travels back through the memories of her closest relationships. Repeatedly stalked by a mysterious caller, the Hollywood icon tells all (Joe DiMaggio, Clark Gable, Arthur Miller, her mother – it's all here), revealing a biting intelligence and an imperfect body, and leads us in real time to the very moment of her death.

Dyad Productions creates, produces and tours classic theatre with an innovative and contemporary emphasis. This radical interpretation of one of the world's most famous women is Dyad's fifth original production in as many years, and, although a work of fiction, exposes the truth behind the legend.

Previous works, Austen's Women and I, Elizabeth were five-star successes at Edinburgh and Adelaide in 2009/2010 and 2010/2011, with The Diaries of Adam and Eve and Female Gothic garnering five-star reviews at Edinburgh 2011 and 2012, respectively. All four plays continue to tour across the UK and internationally, while Austen's Women returned to Edinburgh for a limited sell-out run at Assembly in 2013.

The Unremarkable Death of Marilyn Monroe is written and directed by Elton Townend Jones (writer/performer: The Diaries of Adam and Eve, script editor: Female Gothic, writer: Cutting the Cord for Flying Eye), performed by Lizzie Wort (Animal Farm – Guy Masterson/TTI; The Magician's Daughter – RSC/Little Angel Theatre) and produced by Rebecca Vaughan (writer/performer: Austen's Women, I, Elizabeth, Female Gothic, performer: The Diaries of Adam and Eve).
